NEWPORT'S COACHING CLUB.

A FIRST PARADE—PRESIDENT ARTHUR ONE OF THE GUESTS—THE COACH OWNERS.
BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 1.—Bellevue and Narragansett oaks, and a lovely appearance this morning while the first parade of coaches was in progress, while Mr. Belmont had invited the Coaching Club to partake of luncheon with him at his farm in Portsmouth. Eleven coaches were in the line. The first to arrive was that of Colonel Fearing, who took a position immediately behind that reserved for Mr. Belmont. Flitting hither and thither were vehicles bearing a numerous array of guests, the coach owners, including many officers of the English ship Norfolk.

Shortly after 12 o'clock noon there was a considerable gathering. There up came a coach, upon the box of which there were two presidents; the president of the Coaching Club, Mr. Belmont, who was handing the ribbons that guided four handsome bays, and beside him seated the President of the United States, President Arthur was "the object of all eyes."
